

- the extra hour collective _ manifesto

We are creatives that work in media and who have come to the conclusion that the reality of the daily grind in the office has nothing to do with what we expected during our studies.

We know what is in us and that we are capable of more than what the possibilities of our professions give us. Our dream job often evolved into a "normal" 9:00-5:00 scenario.

We want and we are capable of more.

The ideas and visions of creating something new are living and simmering in all of us. We want to show what we are made of, even when we only have the night to pursue our thoughts.

It is time to take our overtime creativity out of the shadow and into the light.

Art of the Extra Hour.
